Any special requests for catering can be discussed directly and a quote for price per head can be agreed on depending on the type of cuisine you would like for your function.

Customers are more than welcome to bring their own catering to their functions but we ask that you provide your own plates and cutlery if youd like to do this. Also, no food from off the premises can be taken into our kitchen to be cooked/heated up due to a chance of cross contamination.

If you have any further questions, dont hesitate to reach out to us to answer any questions you may have.
